

Five features, five abuses, one port. All five live on the access port, and all five exist because the device plugged into it is not under your control.